

TENACITY

The CFA charter requires a candidate to attain four years of relevant work experience and to pass three exams—each demanding a minimum of 250 hours of study. The CFA Program is a self-study curriculum, generally pursued while a candidate is employed full-time in the financial industry with all the requisite obligations of life: family, community, etc. Employers in the financial industry are well aware of the inherent tenacity represented in the letters CFA and what that tenacity brings to an organization.

ETHICS
TENACITY
RIGOR
ANALYTICS

“I would like to see 100,000 CFA charterholders in China and I would like for all the things that CFA Institute teaches in its curriculum to be fully executable in China. That is my dream today.”

—Phillip Wu, CFA

Learn more about CFA charterholders around the world and the CFA Program at cfainstitute.org/virtues

Phillip Wu, CFA
First CFA charterholder from mainland China

BORN:
Shanghai, China

EDUCATION:
*CFA charter
MBA, The Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania
BBA, University of Houston*

ETHICS
TENACITY
RIGOR
ANALYTICS