

Alternative Investments for Portfolio Management

Alternative investments comprise groups of investments with risk and return characteristics that differ from those of traditional stock and bond investments. Alternative investments are typically, although not always, characterized by:

- relative illiquidity, which tends to be associated with a return premium as compensation;
- potential to diversify;
- high due diligence costs; and
- performance appraisal that is unusually difficult, due in part to the complexity of establishing valid benchmarks.

Allocations to alternative investments are often made with the expectation that they offer the potential for risk diversification and/or greater opportunities to apply active management skills and capture alpha.
